

JUNE 2026

INDONESIAN

Civil Law Review

JOURNAL INDONESIAN CIVIL LAW REVIEW (ICLR) is a double-blind peer-reviewed legal journal, e-ISSN 3090-868X/p-ISSN: 3109-1466 that contains research and review articles related to the field of law. JPN is published twice a year, in June and December, by PT Makanja Group Publishing. The focus and scope of JPN covers various areas of law, but not limited to Criminal Law, Civil Law, State Administrative Law, International Law, Procedural Law, and Tax Law. In addition, this journal also contains studies on Customary Law, Islamic Law, Environmental Law, State Administrative Law, and Agrarian and Forestry Law. Other areas of interest in this journal are Insurance Law, Human Rights Law, Legal Politics, Legal Sociology, Legal Anthropology, and Legal Philosophy. Legal studies related to Maritime Law, Maritime Law, Climate Change Law, Maritime Law, Diplomatic Law, and Humanitarian Law are also included in the scope of this journal. Furthermore, discussions on Special Criminal Law, Economic Law, Business Law, Consumer Protection Law, Intellectual Property Law, and Capital Market Law are the main subjects of the publication of this journal. The journal also highlights Comparative Law, Regional Financial Law, Regional Autonomy Law, Islamic Economic Law, and Health Law, as well as legal aspects in society such as Law and Society, Law and Forensics, Criminology, Victimology, and Correctional Law. As part of its development, the journal also explores legal aspects related to technology, gender studies, and other legal issues in a broader dimension, including social, economic, political, security, educational, and cultural aspects.

RT 001/RW 005. JL Sulengka, Kelurahan Lampa Barat, Kecamatan Duampanua, Kabupaten Pinrang, Provinsi Sulawesi Selatan, Indonesia.
Email: indonesiacivillawreviewlawrevi@gmail.com

This journal is indexed by:

